The Rules:

This game is about fun and engagement at a conference. You and your fellow players can make your own rules. These are just suggestions:

1. You must follow the rules on the card to earn the points (in the yellow circle).
2. Any “house” rules must be agreed upon before the game begins.
3. Have fun, but be responsible, ethical, and remember you’re probably representing someone.
4. Tweets and autographs must be verifiable as agreed upon by the group playing.
5. Decide on how a player will win.
6. Agree on the prize.
7. Establish a game deadline.

Winning:

Typically, winning is simply a matter of gaining the most points, but your group may decide a different “win condition.”

One prize might be that the winner gets a fraction of the swag or just writing tools collected by each individual player. If you have two players that’d be half. If you have four, it’d be a fourth. Decide this before playing.
